What you read in ITALIC above are the speaking intros hosted by Captain Flether Moone (Brad Howard) and Sir Black Fox (Steve Kimball). The Jolly Garogers were the first to submit a song to us, thus they got top billing PLUS it's an original composition written entirely for you and us! Cindy Warner, known as the cutthroat pirate Willoughby Caught gave us her "Pirates Way" version of the classic Pay Me My Money Down. Sir Black Fox is on his way for being sued (for torturing music) by both The Beatles for ruining a version of their famous You've Got To Hide Your Love Away and by Led Zeppelin for the ghastly version of Stairway To Heaven. The Pirate Master and good friend of The Pyrates Way, Libatious Louie Frase cut his version of the classic "Waitin' All Day Till We Get Our Pay" in one take. . .in five minutes! The Brigands, long time friends of The Pyrates Way cut a new song "The Pyrates Way" which had its roots started when the band gathered around the Pyrates Way tent at the 2008 Hampton Blackbeard Festival. Head over to PirateTV.com to see a live performance of the song from the 2009 Rock Hall Pirates & Wench's Fantasy Weekend. Lauren Lowell was all but chained to a tree when a certain Pirate forced her to re-sing Toby Keith's "I Love This Bar" with new lyrics written by the Pirate of said force. Dr. Hook's original "On The Cover Of The Rolling Stone" is reworked by the Drunken Ferrets of Pirates For Sail and was one of the original reasons for this CD's creation when The Salty Sea Dogs came up with similar lyrics on their own in 2007 (once again, head over to pirateTV.com to see the live performance).

It goes without saying that this CD and the music on it are owned by the bands listed above and many are parodies of other music of which no copyright infringement is intended. This CD is free to subscribers and we ask that you don't make copies of it or we'll hunt you down and gut you like a fish. . . . just sayin' is all.
